DIGITIZATION FOR SUSTAINABILITY_ofi

BRANCH MANAGER (SUSTAINABILITY & RCN PROCUREMENT OPERATIONS) FOR OFI

Our sustainability strategy is focused on four interconnected pillars, built on the foundation of supply chain excellence

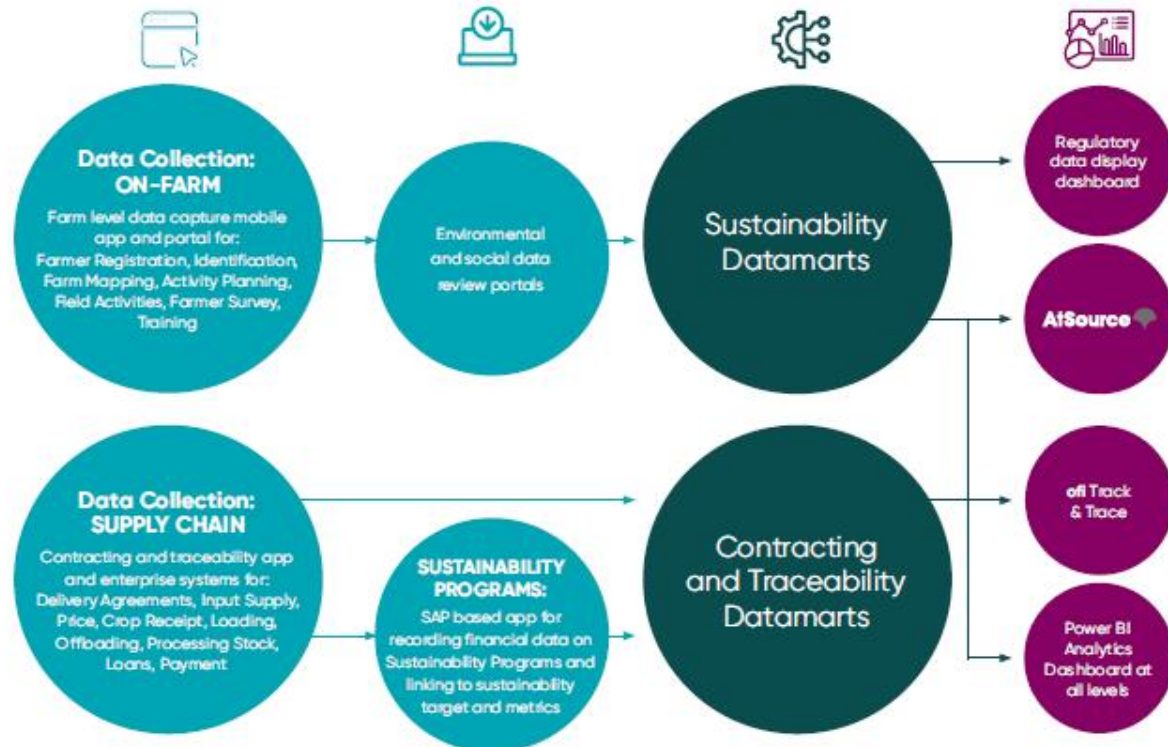

Digitization is at the heart of supply chain excellence

The technology supporting supply chain excellence

How we deliver data and insights through the supply chain

Alongside our global sourcing network and on the ground intel, data plays a key role in our ability to offer a safe, secure supply of traceable and sustainable ingredients. This is why we are constantly innovating and developing new tools to gather even better data, improve traceability, and deliver more efficient and impactful sustainability programs.

ofi's farmer information system helps us gather, process and analyze information about farmers and the first mile of the supply chain. The data is collected by field teams and includes farm GPS locations, yields, and information about communities like the nearest schools.

ofi Direct is a mobile app that allows farmers to transact directly with ofi and gives them more control over their sales and earnings. It also offers farmers access to advice, financing and supplies, as well as the ability for ofi to digitally trace crops back to them.

ofi Track and Trace integrates information from our on-the-ground digital apps and ERP systems to enable traceability from farm plots to customers and provide visibility into across the supply chain. The enhanced Track and Trace system is the backbone of meeting EUDR compliance.
